Is that tattoo haunting you?

We've got the latest in non invasive tattoo removal so you can be done with it forever!

At Dr. Jhonny Salomon Plastic Surgery and Med Spa, we have always vowed to bring you the most innovative technologies and we do our best to live up to this promise. Many of us have been victim to a moment of poor judgement, which has left us with a lifetime trace of that day. Until now, many lasers were not effective in removing dark tattoos and the best way to remove tattoos completely was through invasive surgery. Today, we are happy to introduce our newest addition in laser technology, laser tattoo removal with Medlite Laser by Cynosure.

At our practice, we use lasers to remove tattoo ink through energy generated by light. A laser is a device which is designed to produce one or more specific wavelengths of light. Tattoo ink is removed by using this specific wavelength of light which passes into the skin, but is absorbed by the ink. The rapid absorption of light energy causes the tattoo ink to break into tiny particles, which can then be removed by the body's natural filtering systems. The laser provides maximum tattoo removal while leaving the surrounding skin unharmed.

Lasers can remove professional, amateur (homemade), traumatic and surgical tattoos. On the average, professional tattoos require 6-10 treatments, while amateur tattoos require 5-7 treatments, all spaced approximately 5-8 weeks apart. The number of treatments required is dependent on the amount and type of ink used, and the depth of the ink in the skin. Often times, additional treatments may be needed to produce significant fading.

Patients can expect to see more than 95% fading of their tattoo through laser removal. However, it is important to know that there are many, many types of tattoo inks in use worldwide today; none of which are regulated by the FDA. Not knowing which tattoo ink was used, or how deeply it was applied, makes it impossible for the physician to predict the degree of removal on any given tattoo and not all colors of ink disappear equally as well. Blue, black, and red ink have proven the best response while green, yellow, and neon inks are the most difficult to remove. Although additional treatments will produce significant fading, on occasion these these difficult colors will not respond at all.

Prior to the treatment, the area is numbed to minimize discomfort. The laser emits light in very short pulses on the treatment area and patients generally feel a light pulse, similar to the snap of a small rubber band. After a treatment, you may experience some discomfort or irritation similar to a slight sunburn.

We will instruct you about the care required after your laser treatment. On occasion, pinpoint bleeding associated with the treatment can occur and an antibacterial ointment with a dressing will be applied to the area. This dressing will need to be changed regularly and any ointments provided will need to be reapplied. A shower can be taken the next day, although the treated area should not be scrubbed. Also, prior to any laser treatment, the treatment area should not be exposure to sun for at least two weeks prior to treatment. It is important that you do not forget to use at least a 30 SPF Sunblock with Zinc Oxide between treatments. Although, the area should ideally be kept out of the sun during the healing process and in between treatments.

The cost for this treatment does vary and is dependent on the size of the area being treated as well as the number of treatments needed. Schedule your complimentary consultation to see if you're the right candidate for laser tattoo removal.

Are you ready to radiate this holiday season?

The answer is just a few injections away...spotlight on Restylane

It's a part of life—our skin changes as we age. It becomes thinner, loses fat, and no longer looks as plump and smooth as it once did. How your skin ages will depend on a variety of factors including your lifestyle, diet, heredity, and personal habits.

What happens as we age? Hyaluronic acid (HA) is a naturally occurring substance in your skin that helps provide fullness and elasticity. As we age, our skin loses HA and as HA diminishes, skin loses volume, increasing chances for wrinkles and folds to appear. The good news is that you can do something about it. You can use products in the Restylane® family to reveal a younger-looking you. Products in the Restylane family are used to add volume and fullness to the skin to correct moderate to severe facial wrinkles and folds. Restylane is also the first and only FDA-approved dermal filler for lip enhancement in patients over 21 years. Most of us are already familiar to what beautiful and natural results can be achieved with Restylane, so, how can we make it last as long as possible?

The Restylane Regimen

The Restylane Regimen is a way for you to get the most of your Restylane. It is a treatment plan that involves an initial treatment and a follow-up treatment 4.5 or nine months later. On average, only half the amount of Restylane injectable gel used at the initial treatment was needed to achieve full correction at the follow-up treatment. Restylane is the only hyaluronic acid dermal filler approved to last up to 6 months from initial treatment of moderate to severe nasolabial folds when patients followed the Restylane Regimen.

- At least 95% of patients saw results for up to 6 months when they followed the Restylane Regimen.
- In a clinical study treating the lines from the nose to the corners of the mouth (laugh lines), Restylane continued to provide improvement for up to 6 months after initial treatment, when each line received a follow-up treatment at 4.5 or nine months.
- Using the Restylane Regimen, patients showed similar improvement, on average, at 6 months compared to their Week 2 Wrinkle Severity Rating Scale (WSRS) score.

What is full correction? Full correction means using just the right amount of a product in the Restylane® family in the appropriate treatment areas of your face to get the beautiful results you want. These images are un-retouched photographs of a real patient treated with Restylane injectable gel who has received full correction in the lines from the nose to the corners of the mouth (nasolabial folds).

Spotlight on Liposuction

Liposuction, also known as "lipoplasty", slims and reshapes specific areas of the body by removing excess fat deposits, improving your body contours and proportion, and ultimately, enhancing your self-image.

Despite good health and a reasonable level of fitness, some people may still have a body with disproportionate contours due to localized fat deposits. These areas may be due to family traits rather than a lack of weight control or fitness.

Liposuction surgery can be used to treat stubborn fat pockets in many parts of the body including the thighs, arms, neck, hips, waist, back, inner knee, chest, cheeks, chin, calves, and ankles. In some cases, liposuction is performed alone, in other cases it is used with plastic surgery procedures such as a facelift, breast reduction, or a tummy tuck.

The patient to the right underwent body contouring surgeries at Dr. Salomon's Miami office. This included liposuction of the back, flanks and abdomen as well as a breast lift.
